

L'Apogée Hotel Courchevel 1850

What we love...

The private 40 metre conveyor belt which glides you right into the ski room in your gear – so you can hit the après ski bar with minimal fuss!

If you're the impatient type, fret not. You won't have to hang around once you've stepped into your skis at this luxury ski hotel in Courchevel 1850. Built at the highest point in the uber exclusive Le Jardin Alpin – the location of Courchevel's famous former Olympic ski jump – Hotel L'Apogee gives you ski-in/ski-out access.

Offering breathtaking views of Les Trois Valles, it delivers on all counts. To start with, there are 53 stunning rooms and suites along with a penthouse and two private luxury chalets to choose from.

Designed by India Mahdavi and Joseph Dirand with tailor made furniture, rich tones, luxe fabrics, atmospheric lighting and unique touches, each room has its own distinct feel.

When you're not careering down those slopes, or trying out the famous 1850 toboggan run, you'll find plenty to amuse yourselves with at this luxury ski hotel.

First things first – Le Bar de L'Apogée. It's the ideal spot for some of that celebrated après ski.

Chic surroundings, a stunning bar, impressive drinks menu and some more of those wonderful views do the job.

This luxury ski hotel also has two on-site eateries. There's gourmet offering, Le Comptoir de L'Apogé, and Koori, which produces exquisite Japanese delicacies.

There's also a cigar lounge and billiard room for pre or post dinner relaxation. When you want to properly unwind, pad to the on-site Le Spa de L'Apogée which offers Sisley treatments, Jacuzzi, sauna, steam room and salt sauna.

There's also a fitness centre, sports coaching and an 11 metre heated mosaic swimming pool if you still have some energy left to burn despite ploughing through all that powder.

You're well placed for exploring the bars and boutiques that Courchevel 1850 has to offer. But we really wouldn't blame you for never wanting to step foot outside this luxury ski hotel because it has pretty much everything you could desire under one roof.

Pastry Chef, Eve Moncorger, creates exquisite desserts, whilst Chef Jean-Luc Lefrançois rustles up gourmet offerings which look almost too beautiful to consume.

Gourmet offering, Le Comptoir de L'Apogé, serves traditional French fine dining with elegant surroundings and breathtaking vistas.

Japanese eatery, Koori, offers mouthwatering sushi and other delicacies.

For relaxed lunches or pancakes and waffles for something sweet in the afternoons, Le Bar de L'Apogée is the ideal spot. Then later, after dark, DJs and live singers truly bring the atmospheric surroundings of this bar to life.

L'Apogée Hotel

Kids

Quite simply, junior guests will be in heaven at L'Apogée Courchevel because every day is a party. After a morning on the slopes, the hotel's concierge can organise dog sled rides in the snow. When it's time to head indoors, the most sought after kids clubs in Courchevel await.

Mini VIP 1850 welcomes children from four to ten years. A unique sensory experience, designed by Sophie Jacqmin, and run by enthusiastic kids club ambassadors, it allows your little ones to try lots of fun activities.

One day, they might design their own jewellery, the next they'll learn magic tricks or study snowflake patterns. Who needs school when you can learn all this on a luxury ski holiday.

Teens are catered for at Freestyle 1850, where they can chill out, play video games and table tennis and watch films. If it all sounds pretty cool then that's because it is – and you're definitely not allowed over the threshold, sorry!
