

Villa Sapphire Brač

What we love...

We love the infinity-edge swimming pool, built into the terrace, which looks directly out to sea.

Living up to its name as something of a jewel, Villa Sapphire is both a sanctuary for those who need to recharge and a base for non-stop adventures.

The luxury villa in Croatia is perched on the edge of the island of Brač not far from the harbour and enjoys sea and mountain views.

Cool, calming and air-conditioned throughout, Villa Sapphire is decorated in a palette of relaxing neutrals which allow those wonderful views to take centre stage. The open-plan living area includes a sleek, contemporary kitchen with top-of-the-range appliances and plenty of fridge space for cold beverages. Nearby is a refectory-style dining table under statement lighting, allowing space for everyone to gather together over leisurely meals. There are two light, bright seating areas, separated by a screen, to allow for both sociable lounging and TV-watching, as well as an office and games room. Plenty of space for everyone, whether you're feeling like a party or craving solitude.

Each of the en-suite bedrooms is a calming retreat where you're guaranteed a restful night's sleep. Three of the bedrooms have private balconies with sea views so you'll wake each morning to the sound of waves lapping the shore.

The outdoor spaces are something really special. The heated infinity swimming pool, sunk into the terrace looks straight out to sea. Al fresco dining and cooking areas and the amazing views provide the perfect backdrop for food and wine with friends as the evening cools.

Eating

Villa Sapphire is a luxury self-catered villa, where you'll have total flexibility to eat as and when you want to.

On days when you're cooking in the villa, the uber-modern kitchen is a joy to work in. It's beautifully equipped with twin oven, hob, microwave, fridge-freezer and all-important dishwasher. There's also a wine fridge, beer fridge and espresso machine – all the little details have been considered. Best of all, you can close everything away behind sleek cupboards at the end of the evening.

The island area, with bar stools, is perfect for gathering with a glass of wine while cooking. There is also a stylish dining space nearby that comfortably seats 10.

Outside is a patio dining space and an al fresco kitchen with barbecue so you can make the most of the warm evenings and wonderful sea views while you cook and enjoy meals together.

The villa's concierge team will be happy to help with restaurant bookings for you so you can explore the island's cuisine and private chefs can be booked to suit your needs.
